There's more to grounding than just the rod

Galvan provides the complete grounding system: copper-coated, galvanized and stainless steel ground rods with a full complement of connectors, clamps and couplings, built "Lineman Tough" for utility applications. Consistent quality – our rods last 40 years or more in most soil conditions – has made us a favorite of the utility industry since 1970. Save time and money. Make Galvan your source for a complete selection of grounding products.
